The $100K Bryan Baer / Linda Ellis Lawyer Extortion Letter!

Of all the extortion letters we have ever received on ELI, nothing tops this $100K extortion letter by Attorney Bryan Baer of Kalka & Baer (Atlanta, GA) claiming copyright and trademark infringement.

<http://www.scribd.com/doc/115954324/Kalka-Baer-Linda-Ellis-100K-Settlement-Demand-Letter>

As has been discussed in another thread, Kalka & Baer are NOT copyright lawyers, they are personal injury attorneys. This means they are serving as Linda's copyright henchman & thugs for hire.

They have chosen to write up an entire legal complaint with the threat of filing suit in Federal Court. (Who is going to front the $350 filing fee, I am curious.)

Of course, we see the typical threat of $150K of statutory damages nonsense. Can we please have someone look into Bryan Baer's track record on copyright and trademark lawsuits and find out if he has any related litigation experience or even lawyer contacts in California to carry this threat out?

I want to remind everyone that a typical split is 60/40 with 40% going to the attorney. So if the extortion letter recipients even pay $10K, that is an easy $4K going to the attorney for that one letter and Linda gets to rape someone in the tailpipe without vaseline for $6K which would easily pay 4-6 months worth of her mortgage payments at Roswell Downs.

To the ELI Defense Team & Support Community, I formally open the gates. Let the scrutiny, dirt-digging, and attacks begin.

Although personal injury lawyer A. Bryan Baer considers himself to be a "super lawyer" and is found on the SuperLawyers.com website (whoa, scary!), I couldn't find a single case at law.justia.com with a search on the names "Bryan Baer" and "A. Bryan Baer."

If my finding above holds up under additional scrutiny, the threatened major lawsuit seeking "$150,000 under copyright law plus treble damages as authorized under the Lanham Act and all attorneys' fees" will be filed and tried by a lawyer with zero intellectual property law experience in Federal Court!

(Editorial comment: I love how Mr. Baer sneaks in not just "lawyer's fees" for one attorney but makes it "lawyers' fees" so more than one attorney can get a piece of this potential pie. Lawyers! Don't you love 'em?")

His SuperLawyers.com listing says he was Editor-in-Chief of the Journal of Intellectual Property Law at the University of Georgia law school. Near as I can tell from the little bit of research I've done on this so far, being editor of a college journal represents the major qualification of A. Bryan Baer as an intellectual property attorney.

Baer referring to himself as a "super lawyer" is akin to Linda Ellis referring to herself as a "celebrity poet of world renown". Another self-titled legal expert much as John Jolin is to be feared as a "Copyright Representative". The odds of this case ending up in a court or with a settlement is nil - sadly. We are all salivating to see those financial records and I anticipate with great glee sharing my story of her extortion attempts on the National stage. Think of the press releases a case like this would generate!! Just Yummy. The fact that she is asking for $100K just makes this more laughable and more fun for the ELI Army. Linda lives in a world where 2 inches measures 6. No matter how much Trojan smoke she and Johnny Boy blow they are both impotent and that poem is still stupid.

I think the Kindercare connection is worth looking into. It could be a error or it could lead to some interesting things she is doing under the cover of Kindercare.

For those of you that might be interested, Bryan Baer's facebook page is: <https://www.facebook.com/bryan.baer1>. I would post his profile picture here, but out of respect for his very young daughter who is in the picture, I won't. Now, I can't be 100% certain this is his page, but when you look at his friends list, he has a million friends from Georgia including, you guessed it, Mr. Jackass John Jolin. I suggest you visit this page soon as it is likely Mr. Baer will figure out that he has exposed his friends list to the world.

Interesting he is a Super Lawyer Rising Star in 2006, 2009, 2010, 2011. So when his is damn star going to actually rise.

I can see the logic now. John Jolin sees Burwash as an opportunity to cash in for Linda. Burwash doesn't roll over. Jolin gets mad and urges Linda to sue. Linda reminds Jolin that they tried that once and didn't collect any money. Jolin remembers his PI attorney friend who might take the case on contingency. PI attorney doesn't have enough clients (how is that possible in PI work anyways). PI takes a flyer on this. If Linda collected on her last case and her lawyer was so good, why isn't she using him again or someone he referred her to. I have my doubts he referred her to a PI attorney who would take the case on contingency.

Oh and according that stupid letter he wrote, he is supposed to be filing suit tomorrow.

I hope Mr. Baer enjoys the spotlight that is likely to be shined on him.

<http://www.superlawyers.com/georgia/lawyer/A-Bryan-Baer/a9a24d70-da32-4d3b-a3fb-93b5313104c0.html>

The profile indicates he spends 30% of his time on IP cases. Someone who knows the legal databases better than I do should be able to find all of the IP cases he has filed.

Hell I'll post his image!!

(http://www.copyright-trolls.com/images/baer_1.jpg)

also worth noting besides John W. Jolin being listed on his friends list I see Troy Rushing is also listed..Troy Rushing is the owner of Discover Media Web Services (<http://dmwebservices.com/>), where John W. Jolin states he works, but Troy says he doesn't...

Funny I have a "mutual friend with Bryan Baer...small world it is indeed!

Uncle John - you are a damn good investigator. Are you tracking down the people associated with both sides of these cases? My thoughts are they might have some interesting information to share.

I had a tough start in 2013. I am getting over a 10-day battle with the flu.

This thread is far from finished. Simply delayed a bit until I get caught up to get my guns out.

Effective immediately, this thread is being locked down in its entirety pending a court date on February 28, 2013. Earlier today, I was personally served by the Muscogee County Sheriff's Department.

<http://www.extortionletterinfo.com/forum/linda-ellis-lindas-lyrics-dash-poem-letters-forum/linda-ellis-files-stalking-complaint-against-matthew-chan/>

A "Stalking Ex Parte Temporary Protective Order" was issued against me. No additional comments can be added to this thread at this time.

I have read her complaint made to the courts and she has clearly exaggerated her statements, attributed statements made by others to me, and taken statements entirely out of context.

I will be presenting my case to the judge on February 28, 2013.

More information will come.
